Bandits Holdup Labor Camp

AUTOISTS USE NEW MONONGAHELA-DONORA ROAD AS RACE TRACK

Bandits Make Good Haul at Labor Camp

(By United Press)

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept — Taydie Richards, aged 35, Raphael Diaz, aged 30 and Mezlo Totto, aged 22, are patients in the Allegheny General Hospital as a result of wounds received late last night in a battle with armed bandits, who held up a labor camp along the Pennsylvania railroad near Milvale and secured over $1,200.

The bandits first attempted to wreck a train at the Milvale station, having placed a plank across the tracks and hoped in this way to have the workmen leave their bunks to clear up the wreckage, and while they were absent, ransack the bunk house. This plan, however, failed and the men entered the bunk house with drawn revolvers and demanded the money of all the occupants. The three men in the hospital attempted to stop the bandits and were wounded in the battle that followed with the bandits finally making their escape.

John Gourley, a Mexican arrested on the Butler Short Line earlier in the evening, is being held as a suspect, as it is thought he may know something of the holdup. When arrested he carried a revolver with two empty cartridges which he could not explain to the police.

New Highway is Mecca For Speed Demons

With the opening of the new concrete road between Donora and Monongahela this week, an important link in the improved highway of the Monongahela valley for a direct route to Pittsburgh was completed, and thousands of autoists have already passed over the road in the past few days.

Numerous complaints have been received that the autoists are using the road as a speedway, and although no serious accidents have been reported as yet, many narrow escapes have taken place, and several autoists report having been forced on the street car tracks by the speed demons who delight in testing out their cars on the highway. Residents along the road who are compelled to use it coming and going to work, have reported that time and again they have had miraculous escapes from death when the race fiends have come suddenly upon them, even failing to give warning by sounding their horns. The road is not much wider than the local river road and barely gives room enough for two passing autoists, and unless officials take prompt steps to put a stop to the speeding, serious accidents will undoubtedly result.

BUMMER DELAYED FOUR HOURS

A tired and sleepy crowd of passengers alighted from the P. & L. E. "bummer" at 4:45 this morning, having been on their way from Pittsburgh for over four hours. The delay was caused by two rather serious freight wrecks earlier in the evening, one at Glassport and the other at Bunola. The train was held up for over three hours at Bunola, while the wrecking crew cleared the tracks sufficient for the passengers train to continue its journey up the river.

Parks Need Attention

The city parks are badly in need of attention. Weeds have grown waist high and are spreading dust and seeds everywhere. Several communications have been received at this office calling attention to the neglect, but on account of the failure of the writers to sign their names, they will not be published. But we affirm that the matter should have speedy attention.

NOTICE TO WOMEN VOTERS

Tax receipts for women voters are being issued for the sum of 10 cents and must be paid on or before October 1st, 1920, in order to cast a vote at the November election.

SAN JOSE VISITED BY QUAKE

(By United Press)

San Jose, Cal., Sept 9—The sharpest earthquake shocks felt here in many years were recorded shortly before 9 a. m., this morning. Hundreds of people rushed into the streets but no serious property damage was reported.

New Gas Company

The Davis-Loquet Gas & Oil company of Erie, Pa., has secured a lease on the Teddy Kisor farm, one mile east of this city, and has organized a partnership with the intention of drilling for gas. The company is capitalized at $70,000, and shares will be sold at $100 each. Three wells will be drilled on the 80 acres comprising the farm and all money remaining after drilling operations, will be returned pro-rata to the subscribers for stock. Driller E. C. Jones, who had charge of the Shepler Oil & Gas company's operations here, has been secured to drill the wells and work will start immediately. Teddy Kisor will have charge of the sale of stock and it is expected to make the company purely a local venture, with all stockholders sharing alike in the company. The farm is in an ideal location according to those acquainted with the territory, and producing wells have been drilled on all the surrounding farms.

ACTION OF PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION MAY MEAN RE-TURN OF FORMER PHONE RATES

Through the action of the Public Service Commission at a meeting held yesterday in Harrisburg, when five attorneys representing 108 municipalities protested on the increase in rates and the reduction of free zones as instituted by the Bell Co on April 1 of this year, Monessen and all other towns in the upper Monongahela valley may have the old rate restored and with the former free zones again allowed. Although the old rates may be restored, it is not likely that a rebate will be allowed on tolls collected during the past six months when the new rates have been in effect. The company claimed that the increase would only net them about $150,000 a year, but investigation of the books showed that during the first month alone over $80,000 additional revenue had been secured.

Public service Commission orders permitting the Bell Telephone company to change classifications and areas so that between $500,000 and $600,000 will be saved to over 100,000 telephone subscribers will be issued within the next fortnight, as the result of the terms drawn up by Charles E. Robinson of Pittsburgh, chief counsel for a multitude of complainants, and J. L. Swayze and R. V. Maryc, legal representative of the company, and submitted tonight. While the commission reserves rights to reject any of the clauses in the protocol, it is believed it will follow its lines, but also arrange matters than any community whose peculiar conditions are not covered by the agreement may be able to make complaint. Furthermore, no complainant is to be prejudiced in future action and the relations between the Bell and the American Telephone and Telegraph company may be made subject of representations. The latter stipulations were made by Mr. Robinson after consultation with his colleagues.

The entire state is reclassified with respect to free exchange areas and more than 50 per cent of this former free service is restored, and the rates reduced to a number of exchanges. On the rural lines the income is cut more than 50 per cent by provisions allowing lines within two miles of an exchange rate without a line mile charge which was effective at a half mile in the new tariff.

The business rates have been reduced in New Castle, Lancaster, Reading, McKeesport and Rochester and all affiliated exchanges.

In the agreement the Bell company agrees to the establishment of a new classification for points outside of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia which gives many exchanges an increase in subscribers without increased rates.

ELEVEN FIREMEN INJURED

(By United Press)

Tarentum, Pa., Sept. 9—Eleven firemen were injured by falling walls and property damage estimated at $15,000 was caused by a blaze which gutted the J. C. Baker hardware store here this morning. The fire was by an explosion of carbide.

Surprise Shower

A pleasant surprise shower was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Julius Nichlos at the Clarendon avenue home of Miss West last evening. About twenty-five young friends of the couple were present and enjoyed the evening. The honor guests received many beautiful presents. The bride will be remembered as Miss Ksenia Potter of this city, having eloped last Friday to Wellsburg with Mr. Nichlos.

Stag Corn Roast

The men of West Newton held a stag corn roast yesterday afternoon and evening on the Nash farm at which a number of Monessen guests were present. Al. Parker presided over the coals and provided ample corn for every person. In addition to fresh roasting ears, sandwiches, pickles, bologna etc. were served. Refreshments were obtained from a good cool spring nearby. A very pleasant time was spent by all persons present.

DISTRIBUTE MEDALS TO SOLDIERS

Ex-service men entitled to the Victory Medal issued by the government can now make their application at the local recruiting station on Donner avenue, as Corporal Moore has been authorized to assist all ex-service men in making out such applications. Medals will be awarded all men who enlisted or were inducted into service during the great war, and in addition clasps will be furnished those men participating in any engagements. The local recruiting station is open until 8:30 each evening, and persons desiring the medals are requested to bring their discharge papers.

Shower for Bride

Mr. and Mrs. David Duche of Knox avenue, were tendered a very pleasant surprise last evening when about thirty of their friends gathered at the home and showered the young couple with many beautiful and useful presents. A pleasant evening was spent in games and music and a delightful lunch was served. Mrs. Duche will be remembered as Miss Clemence Stassin, formerly employed at the Philadelphia Candy Kitchen.

Sealers of weights and measures F. A. Dugan and A. P. Musick corrected and sealed 760 sets of scales during August. They condemned 45 pairs of scales which they "scrapped" and they adjusted 11 other pairs. Generally the sealers found the weights and measures in good condition and no prosecutions were made during the month.

No Shortage of Coal Supply Feared Here

A plan which will prevent any shortage of coal for domestic use in the Pittsburgh district was perfected yesterday at a meeting of the Pittsburgh Coal Producers' Association in the rooms of the association in the Farmers' Bank building. A committee which will cooperate with a similar committee of retail coal dealers was appointed.

W. A. Marsh of the Pittsburgh Coal company, T. W. Guthrie of the Hillman Coal and Coke company, E. S. Harman of the Carnegie Coal company, M. D. Kirk of the Pittsburgh Terminal railroad and Coal company, and O. A. Blackburn, of the Eclipse Gas Coal company, are the members of the committee. The retailers have practically agreed to the arrangement and are expected to name their committee today.

J. D. A. Morrow of Washington, vice president of the National Coal Association, explained the plan which has been adopted throughout a number of other districts. Its principal feature is that the retailers will be urged to "police" their own business in such a manner that none of their customers shall be without coal.

In the Pittsburgh district the method pursued will be the reverse of that which was adopted a year ago, when everybody was urged to lay in a winter's supply of coal. This year the coal will be distributed all only those consumers who live in hilly districts to which it is difficult to take coal in by wagon will be encouraged to purchase a winter's supply early in the season.

The possibility of shortage is not considered great in Pittsburgh, but there is something of a scare because all efforts are being made to get an adequate supply of coal for the Northwest to the lakes before the closing of navigation. Mr. Morrow informed the meeting of operations that a record shipment of coal was made last week. About 1,200,000 tons were laid down on the docks at the ports of Lake Erie.

Mr. Morrow left for Bedford Springs last night. He will present his plan to a number of associations of coal producers throughout the state and in adjoining states, and its adoption is expected to be practically universal. No difficulty is anticipated in getting Pittsburgh coal men of every department of the business to agree to it.

Jobs For All This Winter

(By United Press)

Washington, Sept. 9—There will be jobs for all this winter, John B. Densmore, director of the labor department employment service predicted today.

Basing his statements on reports of 320 field agents, Densmore said the coming winter "will be one of the best in years as regards opportunities for employment with the exception of the war years when there was an absolute general shortage of labor."

Densmore's statements were made in the face of reports to the federal reserve board that unemployment was "particularly severe" in the Cleveland district, where 12,000 Akron workers were out of employment.

Reports to the American Federation of Labor, according to Secretary Frank Morrison show unemployment in the [illegible] trade and in some [illegible] building trades.

Densmore's reports show that factories which shut down during the summer, leaving many thousands out of work, are gradually resuming operations, he said, and that the 12,000 men [illegible] soon be [illegible] by Pennsylvania railroad [illegible] are being [illegible] slight [illegible] in the building trades but this is being rapidly reduced by increased construction," Densmore said. "Builders have at last come to the belief that neither labor or building costs are going to decline and are pushing along withheld construction [illegible]

There is a certain feeling unemployment among workers who [illegible] jobs in hope of finding better ones, according to Densmore. "The prevalence of this sentiment is [illegible] a good barometer of [illegible] he said. "With [illegible] and [illegible] men [illegible] changing their jobs to [illegible]

DISTRIBUTING IMMIGRANTS

Immigrants are now coming into this country at the biggest rate ever known. It is predicted that there may be 1,500,000 new arrivals during the coming year. Now the question arises whether these people will all settle down in great cities, and create slum conditions as a result of their ignorance of language and customs or settle in the open and till the soil.

There ought to be a systematic plan for distributing these people where they will do the most good, and accomplish the most for themselves. If they are left to themselves they will be bled by sharpers who will extract high fees for finding them jobs. All these newcomers should be asked if they have employment arranged for. If they have not, they should be sent to the regular employment agencies, where every one of them can be directed into the trade and locality where he can accomplish the most.

The prices of many staples are exorbitantly high, and the common excuse given is scarcity of labor and impossibility of getting production. With 1,500,000 new workers coming in, it ought not to be possible to make this excuse very long.

But unless this matter is sharply looked out for, a lot of these people will become non-producers. They will become fruit peddlers and sellers of candy and chewing gum and tobacco and will go into a hundred trades and occupations that are already filled and where they render no real service. There is great need for these workers in the mines, forests and on the farms. If the American people continue to pay high prices for their products with all this labor coming in to relieve scarcities, they are some chumps. There is need for a lot of good workers in Pennsylvania and some authority should be heading a lot of them this way.

A GOOD IDEA

The board of education of Evanston, Ill., has just adopted a plan that might well be emulated by other towns similarly confronted. Crowded conditions in the schools demanded enlarged facilities and the board purchased adjacent ground upon which was located residential buildings. Instead of erecting a school house under the present prohibitive building conditions, the lower floors of the houses were converted into class rooms by removing partitions, and by making other slight alterations, while the upstairs rooms were used as apartments for teachers.

The plan is working fine and is a great help in relieving congestion in the class rooms and furnishing temporary and comfortable homes for teachers who would otherwise be unable to secure rooming quarters. In some sections of the country it is a common practice to have one or more houses go with the school house as a regular part of the school property. This insures a convenient residence for teachers and other employes of the schools.

While the conditions here are becoming worse daily with regard to ample facilities, it might not be a bad idea to discuss such a plan as is being tried in the Illinois town, and by so doing evade undertaking to erect a big school building with cost of material and labor mounting upward. To go into the matter further might prove of value to the community.

STUDENTS AND WORKERS

James Schermerhorn, publisher of the Detroit Times, expresses regret at the "demotion of two good newspaper editors, Harding and Cox," by their nomination for the presidency. He disapproves of the choice of newspaper men for such high offices as being contrary to the principle which should keep journalism "away from all trammels, restraint and dictations" and as indicating "a reversion to a former partisan period of slavishness." There is some virtue in this criticism. American journalismm in recent years has been getting more and more independent; the old fiercely partisan papers which told only one side of the story are now almost all gone. News is now generally considered too sacred a thing to be prostituted to selfish or class purposes. It would be a sad thing for the republic if men began to use newspapers not as mediums of popular enlightenment but as means to boost themselves into political power.

But it cannot be said in either case that this is true. Neither Harding nor Cox set sail on the journalistic sea with hope of the presidency, and their positions today is a result of years of experience and preparation for what might follow in the evolution of man. Newspaper making seems to fit men for diversified callings providing you have a good student and a hard worker at the outstart.

THE BLUFFERS

Some of the boys who go out for summer work on farms and other jobs, come home reporting that a lot of the fellows won't work except when the boss is looking at them. A good conscientious worker naturally feels that he does not get any credit.

The other fellows put in tremendous licks when the manager is around, but the rest time they fool and loaf. Yet the boss has ways of his own for knowing who is doing the real work. He does not depend merely on what he sees.

Any man capable of taking the management of any kind of work, sizes up correctly the ability and and willingness of his subordinates. The bluffers who put up the false fronts are more transparent than they realize. From unexpected sources the story of their unsteadiness leaks around to headquarters while the good worker is reported as always on the job, and he is the one who gets the favorable recommendation.

LET THEM SUFFER

When it was rumored that sugar would go to 40 or 50 cents a pound, many dealers throughout the country loaded up on sugar, which they bought at 25 cents or less. Now that sugar has dropped to 15 cents or thereabouts, appeals have been made by them to the department of justice for relief. The sugar dealers claim that as they have been restricted to a profit of one cent a pound, they should now be protected against loss. The department will follow a "hands-off" policy; it reaffirms its intention to prosecute profiteers holding food for speculation, and predicts a further tumble in sugar prices. Candy and soft drink dealers will probably be hit hardest, owing to the vast amount of sugar carried in stock.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS

If the boys quit the high school at the age of 16 or 18 years on account of good wages in the mills, you may look out for a shortage of presidential timber a decade hence. The call of the high wage is a temporary thing, and once a boy quits school and goes to work it is a hard matter for him to get back into school again. His intentions may be good, but nine out of every ten fail to ever get back to study. If boys want to fill the high positions of life they must acquire knowledge while young and have the courage to forget high wages and the Babe Ruth call.

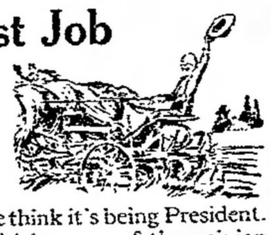
The Biggest Job In America



Some people think it's being President. Certain politicians are of the opinion it's getting the President elected, but says it's plowing the land—500,000,000 acres of it every year. This stupendous task, according to an article coming next week by Philip S. Rose, requires more men and more power than any other industry. And as for plows—well, one factory today is making about 750 models!

This big business is only one of the problems on which THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN goes to the bottom with farmers the American farmer. Why, every Thursday there's something of vital interest to every farmer. In next week's issue, for example, there's a County Agent story by William Harper Dr. and a mighty helpful article by Stuart O. Blythe on "Where Butter Makers Lead." Even the farm boys come in for their share, with the beginning of "Silver Plume," a thrilling boys' serial about a horse and a race. This National farm service costs $1.00 for 52 weeks, yet it's worth far less than one cent a week! Your subscription starts with next week's issue by sending me today your name and

Nazimova--Olympic Today and Tomorrow

The romance of a woman's soul tested in the crucible of circumstance. Depicts of the struggle of a girl's inborn sense of right against the complex and masked attack of the world.

A stirring picture with many a smile, though often the smile is half-wistful.

The story of a girl who went unchanged from the tenements of Limehouse to the mansions of the great in Park Lane.

The kind of photoplay that amazes and grips you: that brings a tightening of the throat, and leaves you feeling the world after all is better than half-bad.

Presents Nazimova, with all the witchery of her art, in a play worthy of her.

Wherein one girl's simple trustfulness proves triumphant against the adroit stabs of the society woman seeking to rob her of love.

How a girl who had only herself as guide found the true path to happiness.

A dramatic screen narrative of the life romance of a girl whoes heart did not wither under the scorching glare of worldliness.

JOURNAL PRINTED BY INDIANS

Cherokees Once Had a Newspaper That May Be Said to Have Become a Power.

The Cherokee Indians, when still occupying what now is the state of Georgia, published a newspaper in their native tongue in 1828. One of their tribe, Sequoyah by name, in 1823 designed 86 characters that were to represent the Cherokee language in print. The national committee and council of the tribe meeting at New Echota, the capital of their nation, in 1826, voted a fund to buy type, a press and the necessary equipment. The paper was known as the Cherokee Phoenix. Half of it was printed in Cherokee and half in English. Hundreds of full-blood Indians who otherwise would have remained illiterate all their lives, were thus enabled to read after mastering the alphabet. These Indians became subscribers of the paper, as did members of neighboring states, and the paper became a power.

The Phoenix was "known in Europe," and among other famous papers that asked to be placed on the exchange list was the London Times. The paper was in operation for about five years, and was discontinued when the government bought for its removal the Cherokee Indians west and was at its height. It ceased publication when the Georgia state legislature [illegible]

"Exclusive But Not Expensive"

TERM THAT BANISHED ANGER

Appellation Bestowed on "Bachelor Maids" Put Further Animosity Out of the Question.

The two Elton sisters, age thirty and thirty two and very successful business women, live next door to the Smith sisters, about fifty and fifty two, who are also retired and given to the occupations of crocheting and quilt piecing. The Elton sisters speak of themselves as "old maids," and the Smith sisters as "pesky old maids," in order to distinguish between them. Also they are given to much pitying of the second-class ladies.

But the other evening one of the Elton sisters, clad in a bungalow apron, was out sprinkling the lawn. As she moved around the house she heard the Smiths in conversation. "Yes, sister, age has its compensations," one was saying. "Now look at those girls next door. They no sooner get home than they get into those aprons, so scanty that they are immodest. Of course, they're just kids, but still—"

That was enough for Miss Elton. With a rush she was in the house.

"Oh, Grace," she told her sister, breathlessly, "those Smiths are real nice. We've got to stop calling them pesky old maids."

And now generously the Eltons speak of them as "the other old maids."

Immunity From Whooping Cough.

Dr. T. Luzzati of Rome was called to three different houses, in each of which a child had begun to cough. In each case he suspected that it might be whooping cough; therefore, as a precaution, he vaccinated all the brothers and sisters with an anti-whooping-serum. Ten days later his suspicion was confirmed by the typical whoop, but in no case did one of the other children catch the disease, though no attempt at isolation was made.

In reporting this to Policlinico (Rome) Doctor Luzzati says he has found no benefit from vaccination once the disease has become pronounced.

Curing Intolerance of Milk.

Dr. Genegrier reports to the French Pediatrics society that a newly born infant which could not take milk in any form was cured by three subcutaneous injections, one every other day, of 8, 16 and 30 minims of sterilized cow's milk. The third injection was followed by violent vomiting and rigors, but from this moment the baby tolerated milk by the mouth in progressive doses, beginning with five and ending with 350 grams a day.

Becoming Extinct

(By United Press)

New Orleans, Sept. 9—Horse shoeing will be a lost art in New Orleans within two years, John Leary, president of the Master Horse Shoers Association, estimated today. All horseshoers here now are above 40 years old and only 36 remain, he said. There were no apprentices and wages have jumped from $4 to $7 unavailingly, he declared.
